HAUNT INGENUITY REWARD FEAT 1

DETECTION

DIVINE

THAUMATURGE

Your cunning knowledge grants you the ability to notice the emotional echo of a soul that passed on, leaving a haunt in its wake. Even when you aren't Searching while in exploration mode, the GM rolls a secret check for you to notice haunts that usually require you to be Searching.

You can disable haunts that require master proficiency in a skill as long as you're at least trained in the skill. If you have master proficiency in the skill, you can disable haunts that require a proficiency rank of legendary instead.

THE KEY TO EELER'S INN

ITEM

OCCULT

An apparently mundane brass key that is anything but. While you are within 1 mile of a valid entrance to Eeler's Inn, the key grows warm. The warmth intensifies as you draw closer.

Return to Eeler's Inn (extradimensional, occult, teleportation); Frequency once per day; Trigger You would use an extradimensional or reflection-based travel effect;

Effect You redirect the effect, traveling to Eeler's Inn instead of the effect's normal destination. You arrive at the nearest safe access point recognized by the inn, usually a door, mirror, still-water reflection, or other threshold claimed by Eeler's hospitality.

If circumstances would prevent your body from traveling, as determined by the GM, your soul travels to Eeler's Inn while your body remains where it would have been after resolving the original effect. While separated in this way, your body is unconscious and your soul appears within the inn as a visible spiritual reflection of yourself. This separation lasts until you return to your body, your body is brought to the inn, or another effect reunites them.
